

How I Love You

Becky Buller

Goodnight Sparky Music, BMI

© 2000

Another midnight come and gone
In the dead of late December
As the snow falls down around my windowsill.
Here I sit, all alone
And gaze into the dying embers
Of a passion that once shook me like this bitter winter chill.

Our dreams have died
Fallen victim to decisions
That murder hope but leave the tears behind.
Lord knows I've tried
But I'm captive to your vision;
I don't have the heart to tell myself that you're no longer mine.

Chorus: Was it something that I said
 Or did I forget to say
 That I love you?
 Can we forget the hurt instead
 And wipe the past away
 With I love you?
 How I love you...

Now the flame is gone
And there's nothing left but ashes
To show for a love that once burned bright
So I'll sing this song
Until the heartache passes
And try to keep your memory from haunting me tonight.